Rector's Christmas Message

"While all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the midst of her course, Thy almighty WORD, O Lord, leaped down from high heaven, from Thy royal throne." In the dead of night, when darkness was greatest, the light of the world was born. "The people that walked in darkness, have seen a great light; to them that dwelt in the region of the shadow of death a light is given." "For a Child is born to us, and a son is given to us; and the government is upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called the Prince of Peace." Thus the old prophecies, we have seen their fulfillment. There He lies in the manger—the ox and the ass, the straw-strewn cave, a reverent man and a young girl with the mother-light in her eyes. This is the scene we recall each Christmas Day, telling the simple, sweet story of Christ's birth, the beginning of His stay upon earth,—the exordium of the divine life He led among men—to teach and instruct them how to live and how to enter life eternal.

That we may see this light, and learn this lesson, and share this peace—this is the hope and prayer of your president for every one of Loyola's ours.

'Hounds Meet Scranton In New Charity Contest

by Larry Hart

Tickets are now on sale for the Loyola-Scranton charity basketball game. The affair, scheduled for Sunday, January 2, is expected to draw a capacity crowd in Evergreen Gym. All proceeds from this game will go to the Jesuit Missions in India.

Tickets may be purchased for $1.00 from members of the Loyola College Sodality. In addition, tickets have been distributed to the Sodality of Loyola High School and to several Holy Name societies.

The Rev. Paul J. Gilvary, S.J.,

assistant director of the Maryland Jesuit Mission Bureau, has chosen one of the strongest teams in the area in Scranton II. Although last year's Royal five posted only an 8 and 14 record, Coach Pete Charlesino has nine lettermen returning and it would appear that they may be amassing a powerhouse. By the time Scranton meets Loyola in the charity fray, both teams will have played some of the best-ranked teams in the East.

The activities scheduled for the day will include a preliminary scrap between Loyola High and the Loyola College freshman quint. The Frosh game will begin at 1 p.m., and the Varsity tilt gets underway at 2:30 p.m.

The coming charity game will be the first scheduled for this cause at Loyola. If successful, it may become an annual affair.

Several other Jesuit schools have already established the tradition. Last year, Georgetown and St. Joseph's College played before a capacity throng in Philadelphia.

Because of the nature of the game, this will be the only basketball contest of the season for which student looks will not be honored. All seats will be reserved.

Loyola students have a special interest in the charity involved, since many of the Jesuits serving in India are Baltimoreans who graduated from Loyola High School or Loyola College.

Glee Club Holds Annual Concert In Cohn Sunday

The annual Christmas Concert will be presented by the Glee Club in the Chapel of Our Lady of Evergreen on Sunday, December 12, at 1:00 p.m. The program of over a dozen selections includes several solos and audience participation.

Benediction will be held immediately after the concert, followed by the President's Reception in Cohn Hall.

Mr. George Nugent, a student in the Evening School, will be the organist this year. As a prelude he will play four "chorales" by Bach.

In the procession, the forty-eight members of the Glee Club will sing "Come Beautiful Savior." Other numbers by the group will include "Adeste Fideles," "Gesu Bambino," "Angels We Have Heard on High" and "Hodie Christus."

Ralston Russell, president of the club, has chosen the "Virgin's Shimmer Song" for his solo. The tenor soloist, Edward Birrane, will sing "O Holy Night."

Charles Wunder, Al Fields, and Edward Birrane will sing "We Three Kings," each doing a solo on a separate part.

In order that the audience may share in the festivities, several audience participation numbers have been planned, including the ever popular carols, "Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."

For the recessional, Mr. Nugent will play Handel's "Andante" with variations.

After the concert the Very Rev. Thomas J. Murray, S.J., President of the college, will officiate at Benediction. Following this, refreshments will be served at the reception to be held in Cohn Hall from 5:00 to 5:45 p.m.

Heisey Takes Contest Prize

Daniel Heisey, a freshman, won the March Year Short Story Contest, and will receive the twenty dollar prize for his effort. News of the decision was released by the contest chairman, Mr. Vincent Colimore, on Wednesday, December 1.

Heisey, a graduate of Mt. St. Joseph, is a math major and a candidate for the presidency of the freshman class.

The story, entitled "Magnificent," was twenty-three typewritten pages, double-spaced. The judges said that its good quality was typical of all entries.

Night School Student Wins

The poetry division of the contest was won by John Nayden, a student in the night school. He too will receive a twenty dollar award. Robert Pula, John Price and Daniel Muckey took second, third and fourth places respectively for their poems.

Judges, in addition to Mr. Colimore, were Mr. H. Charles Sialely and Mr. Francis O. Voci.

Six Candidates Seek Highest Class Office

Elections of permanent officers for the Freshman Class will be held on Monday, December 13. Polling will take place in the cafeteria between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Ballots containing a list of candidates for the various offices will be provided. All voters will have to do will be to encircle the names of the candidates of his choice and sign the ballot. The results of the election will be announced the following morning. The runner-up for the office of president will be vice-president.

Ease Congestion

Larry Anwalt and Mike Leckman are co-chairmen of the Freshman Elections Committee which is handling the elections. They have requested that those who are free to vote at another time refrain from voting at noon in order to ease congestion in the cafeteria.

This year's freshman elections are unusual in two respects. First, there are twelve candidates running, an unusually large number, and, secondly, only one "ticket" is being presented this year. Most of the candidates are running independently.

Six Run For President

There are six men running for the office of president. Jay Arnold, a Mt. St. Joe graduate who is majoring in political science is heading up what he calls the "Representative Ticket". Jay is in a number of activities at Loyola. When at St. Joe, he was editor of the paper, president of the Junior Class and ran track. Tony Deanna, another St. Joe grad, majoring in the social science division, saw action in soccer and track while he was there. He was president of St. Elizabeth's CYO, and played soccer for the Hounds this year.

The only presidential candidate from Loyola High is Rudy DeSantis. He is an A.B. pre-med student. He has been serving as chairman of the temporary Freshman Governing Committee. At high school Rudy played varsity basketball for four years and was president of his class for four years. Jerry Freese comes to Loyola from Calvert Hall where he was a class officer and active in debating and dramatics. He is majoring in English and continuing his interests in debating and dramatics here at Loyola.

Heisey, Shaffer Candidates

Dan Heisey is a Mt. St. Joe graduate who has come to Loyola to major in mathematics. While at St. Joe, Dan swam for the varsity and was active in dramatics. He is a member of the Greyhound staff, on the Rifle Team and has been serving as a member of the Governing Committee. Dave Shaffer is the only candidate who is a veteran. A graduate of Patterson Park, Dave served a four year "hitch" in the Navy where he did work in public relations. He came out with a petty officer's rating. A married man, Dave is now majoring in math at Loyola.

There are only two candidates for the office of secretary. George Nellies came here from Mt. St. Joe to major in physics. He was especially active in oratory and debating at the Mount and is continuing in these fields at Loyola. Bill Reuther, another physics major, is running on the Arnold ticket. He was president of the Student Council at Calvert Hall, and was active in dramatics and the band.

Four From Loyola High

All four of the men running for treasurer are Loyola High School graduates. Knowles Ambruse, an A.B. political science major, is active in the Pershing Rifles and the Boosters here at Loyola. Jack Cummings is running on the "Representative Ticket". He played varsity basketball and tennis in high school and is on the freshman squad here. Jay Finnerty, a physics major, played varsity football for Loyola High. He was in debating, the Sodality and the boosters in high school. Mitch Twardowicz, a pre-med, was president of the Boosters Club, business manager of the Teatwork and treasurer of the Sodality, as well as on the varsity tennis team while at Loyola High.

College Host To HS Seniors

Approximately forty Catholic high school seniors who are now attending public high schools toured the Loyola College campus on Wednesday, December 1. They were welcomed by Student Council President Moe Bozel and were acquainted with the benefits of a small liberal arts college by the Rev. John J. Scanlan, S.J.

After the introduction of the Rev. Thomas J. Mardagn, director of the Catholic Youth Organization of Baltimore, through whom they had been contacted, they were divided into groups according to their particular interests.

The heads of the English, Political Science, Business, and Science departments were on hand to explain the various programs of study in each major field. They answered all questions and explained what was necessary for qualification in each department.

The members of the Student Council who acted as guides then conducted the boys on a tour of the campus and finally took them to the Gym where the swimming pool was placed at their disposal.

They were then invited to be the guests of the College at dinner in the Cafeteria after which they attended the basketball game between Loyola and Georgetown as guests of the College.

A similar program is planned for the seniors of the Catholic high schools in the area, the first being Loyola High on Wednesday, December 15.

The Great Post Office brand will be resurrected again this year, when thousands of college students harness the mail bag to the shoulder and tigger through every hamlet and town in the country dropping mail into the gutter as they tumble along. Selected from a long list of former mail-bagging incidents are the following:

1. Creeping into class laden with letters and magazines just to avoid that "eventual"
2. Tramping through a pile of leaves which, unfortunately, is located directly above an open manhole.
3. Being beaten with a monkey wrench by a derisive old engine because you dirtied up the cover of her hot rod magazine.
4. Wandering around through the sleet and snow for over an hour before you learn that 4712 Old York Road is a vacant lot.

A ranchman at Bowie recently thought up a new way to lose Paul Connolly's money. The nag was leading by four lengths coming into the backstretch when he (the horse) suffered a heart attack and dropped dead on the track. Unfortunately, Mr. Connolly was not carrying life insurance on the beast.

Last year, The Greyhound printed a list of the students who had not picked up a book of basketball tickets for The Hounds' home games, at the same time casting aspersions and uncomplimentary remarks upon the negligent offenders. To fill up the vacant moments of space in this newspaper (2), the editors are threatening to do the same this year. So, to preserve your good name, to prevent yourself from being called a Communist, to create more work for Wilson, please wander up to the gym sometime this week and pick up a book.

If you have been approached recently by an intelligent looking young man with a stack of yearbook subscriptions under his arm, who looks at you in a cruel way, jumps on you, throws you to the ground and sits on you, then you have had the privilege of meeting the Yearbook's new salesman, Charles A. Wumber in the process of peddling subscriptions.

Debate Team to Go To Tourney At New York U.

Loyola College debating team have been invited to attend the Hall of Fame Tournament at New York University on December 10 and 11. Loyola will send two teams. Upholding the affirmative will be Sam Ady and John Torney; the negative, Jim O'Hara and Hal Sank. Loyola will be pitted against some of the finest teams in the East.

On December 1 at Loyola, the affirmative team of Sam Ady and John Torney met and defeated the Philadelpia Debate Society of Georgetown University. Earlier, on November 23, the Loyola negative team composed of Jim O'Hara and Hal Sank defeated Georgetown School of Foreign Service at Georgetown.

Debate Today

Today, the Loyola affirmative team of Sam Ady and John Torney meets the negative team of Catholic University in the Xavier Lounge at 3 p.m. This same team will meet the negative team from Trinity College on December 11, in Xavier Lounge. This will be the last League debate before the Christmas holidays.

Thus far, Loyola is a strong contender for the James Cardinal Gibbons Debate Trophy. The Loyolans have yet to lose a League debate, having a record of four wins and no defeats.

Novices Start

Last Saturday, December 4, Loyola sent four teams to the Novice Debate Tournament at Temple University. The affirmative teams were composed of George Nelles and Tom Clifton, Wayne White and Jerry Fries; the negative teams were Tom Burch and Bob Baker, Vince Fietman and Bob Morris.

PLACEMENT OFFICE

A notice was posted Thursday, November 18, asking that all boys notified by the Post Office to report for work, inform the Placement Office immediately. On Tuesday, November 23, boys were still trickling in, having heard, not read, that they were to report.

Because the time for reporting to the Post Office was inconvenient for a number of students, the Placement Office arranged for different dates and times. Mr. Hull, responsible for hiring students for the Post Office, was informed that we would notify him of the number of boys who would report on the different dates. Because of the students' failure to report, it was impossible to send him complete lists. To add to the confusion resulting from the failure of many students to report, someone, not authorized by the Placement Office, posted a notice giving erroneous information. Consequently some students made plans to report at the wrong time. Perhaps some who didn't report to the Placement Office will report to the Post Office—at the wrong time.

The contact of the Placement Office with you is through the Bulletin Board. Please check it frequently.

Contest To Set Jr. Dance Theme

"If you were in charge of putting on a dance, what theme would you give it?" This is the question currently being asked the student body by the Junior Class. The Junior Dance Committee is sponsoring an affair on January 8.

A contest is being held to determine the theme of the "hop". Entry blanks, printed in the November 24 issue of the Greyhound, may be submitted up to and including December 10. The winning entry will be awarded a free pass to the dance.

The familiar Brynden Ridenour will bring his ensemble along to provide musical background for the festivities. Dress will be informal; the time, from nine to one. Tickets, priced at $2.40 will be out shortly.

The Collegiate Debate Topic . . .

. . . for this year has induced much more debating than was originally expected—but it is about the resolution rather than on it. We are referring to the controversy touched off by the withdrawal of the United States Military and Naval Academies from intercollegiate debating as long as the topic for debate is the resolution chosen by the Speech Association of America, Resolved: That the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist Government of China. The position of the academies is understandable. What is not understandable, however, is the position taken by such people as Representative Robeson of Virginia and Monsignor Freking of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade. Congressman Robeson said that those students who spoke on the affirmative might regret it the rest of their lives. Msgr. Freking, in his article in The Shield, maintained that one might just as easily advocate the admission of sin as uphold the affirmative of this topic. We can conclude only that such opinions are the result of misinformation and/or that type of unreasonable fear which would have us sacrifice basic freedoms in order to combat Communism.

We should like to point out to such people that, first of all, one does not have to believe that side of the topic which he is defending. Debaters are trained to speak on both sides of the resolution with equal force and logic. The purpose of debating is not to implant convictions in the debaters but to train their thinking and speaking talents. Secondly, we should like to make it plain that recognition of a government does not mean that we approve of that government or its policies. If it did, then we should withdraw recognition of all the other Communist countries which we have already recognized. Yet we do not hear these same people advocating that. It is this popular misconception that is one of the major obstacles which the State Department would have to overcome, if circumstances should, at some time in the future, make recognition of Red China beneficial to the United States.

We admit that the evidence is heavily in favor of the negative position, but this only makes it more of a challenge for those who speak for the affirmative. This fact does not warrant the logically fallacious pronouncements from those who are in no way connected with collegiate debating.

75th Birthday Is Celebrated By Fr. Didusch

The Mendel Club deviated from its usual procedure to hold an annual meeting on November 24, to honor the seventy-fifth birthday of its faculty director, Father Joseph Stephen Didusch, S.J. A small birthday party was held by the members of the club to express their deep appreciation for all the aid he has rendered to the club in the capacity of moderator and friend.

Loyola Alumnus
Father Didusch was born in Baltimore, November 25, 1879. He received his A.B. degree here at Loyola in 1898. After graduation, he entered the Society of Jesus and was ordained in 1912. He was Professor of Biology and Organic Chemistry at St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia from 1915-1925; rector of the Jesuit Novitiate at Weaversville from 1930-1935 and has been Professor of Biology at Loyola College since that time.

At present he is a member of the Md. Academy of Science, the A.A.A.S., Catholic Round Table of Science, American Museum of Natural History, Maryland Association of Biology Teachers, and the American Association of Jesuit Scientists.

Spontaneous Wit
Fr. Didusch has had us his guest since he began teaching at Loyola College the idea of seeing that as many of his students as possible have the opportunity and guidance to continue their studies in the field of biology. His spontaneous wit and untiring effort in aiding the student have made his office on the third floor of the Science Building a "home away from home" for all of those who know him.

Frosh Cagers Drop Georgetown Opener

Loyola College's Freshman Basketball squad opened its '54-'55 season with a 73-64 loss to Georgetown. The contest, played at Evergreen, was rough and rugged as both teams strove to jell a workable offense. Contrary to what the score indicates, the game was not heated until the last seven minutes of the game.

The Rifle Team

Early last week the Greyhound sharpshooters lost their opening intercollegiate rifle match to Gettysburg College of Pa. The score was 1339 to 1240. The Hoonds were paced as usual by Charlie Winder, Vince McCarry, and Ivy Gans. Despite the loss to Gettysburg the team showed considerable promise and will undoubtedly improve with each match.

Later in the week the Rifle team played host to Wyoming University in a pistol match. The results of this match are as yet unknown. Several other pistol matches have been scheduled for the near future, the opponents being Colorado A&M and a return match with Wyoming.

As of the present date only Winder, McCarry and Gans are sure of their first-string berths, with the other two slots still wide open. Sam Ponte, a freshman, is among those in contention for the two vacancies on the starting team.

Tryouts are still being held daily in the morning on the rifle range behind the gym. If you are interested and have ability or think you have ability, please report as soon as possible.

With fifteen points, the Hoyas' Phillette emerged as high scorer. Two points behind was Loyola's Denny McGuire, while Phillips and Clark of Georgetown both had twelve.

Hoyas Hot
The junior Hoyas jumped into an early lead as both teams had trouble finding the range. The gap widened all through the second quarter, when, with two minutes to play, the Hoonds came alive and chopped the lead of Georgetown from fifteen points to eight.

At the beginning of the second half, the Hoonds, still hot, caught the Hoyas. After this, the lead changed hands almost as fast as the basketball. However, Loyola holds proved costly. Four men, O'Connor, Watkins, Goodlines and McGuire fouled out and the Hoonds soon fell behind. With seven minutes remaining in the contest, Georgetown ran up a seven point lead which they never lost.

Landed Goal
Outstanding for the Green and Gray were Denny McGuire, Denny Nell, Jack Cummings and Harry Goodlines. McGuire constantly kept the Hoonds from falling behind with his one-hand jumps from around the pivot, while Nell backed him up with two-hand set shots. The floor games of both Goodlines and Cummings were very good.

The Hoond yearlings traveled up to Philadelphia yesterday and played the Villanova Frosh. The next Freshman basketball game will be played on Wednesday, December 16, against the Baltimore H. Frosh at the Rogers Ave. gym.

Hounds To Face F-D Sat., Bees Wednesday

On Friday, December 3, Loyola travelled to New York state, where they outplayed a favored Wagner College quintet, taking a 64-62 decision.

The lead carriers for Loyola were Charlie McCullough and Jerry Komin. Komin kept the local five moving and made the crucial foul shots which broke the Wagner offense in the closing minutes. McCullough played his usual rough game under the boards and dropped in twenty-four points.

Irona Battle

On the following night the Green and Grey rattled a hard fighting Irona team which finally emerged victorious, 73-76. The Greyhounds were playing improved ball over the previous performances and are expected to begin a winning streak—perhaps against Villanova or Fairleigh-Dickinson.

Saturday, November 27, saw the Greyhound hoopers open their official season in a scrap with the Alumni at Evergreen. The Old-timers, headed by such past stars as Nip Deherly, Ed Kowalewski, Joe Lacy, Jerry Chadwick and John Benzing, put up a terrific battle before dropping the contest, 55-71.

Deherly Sharp

Deherly looked especially sharp as he paced the losers with fine passwork and totaled seventeen points.

The game was up and tuck for more than three quarters until the rebounding of Charlie McCullough, Staiti and Jim Allenbaugh took its toll. McCullough dropped in fourteen points during the evening and was one of the important factors in the victory with his rebound work.

Fava Hot

Cookie Fava kept the crowd on the edge of their seats in the opening minutes with his deadly set-shot, making eight markers in all. Dick Benzing, playing a good floor game, netted seven points, while Paul Dodd, Bill Brown and George Leyh got six apiece. Gene Grimes, Wandy Howley and Jerry Komin were among a host of backcourt men who helped greatly toward the victory for Coach Reitz's charges.

All in all, however, the Green and Grey quintet seemed to lack the spark and hustle which characterized teams of the past. It may well have been that the boys, who for the most part are inexperienced in playing on the same team with each other, were on edge and did not produce to the best of their ability.

Hayas Here

This condition was very much improved on December 1, as Loyola dropped a close contest to Georgetown University, 74-63. Georgetown, without a doubt one of the best teams in the vicinity, was outplayed during most of the scrap.

Charlie McCullough made the big difference in the Loyola showing as he singlehandedly controlled the boards for more than half the game and racked up twenty-four points. Allenbaugh and Staiti also contributed to the rebound work, which, during the first three quarters, was exceptional.

Good Game

Although the score showed differently, the team played a fine game. Their defense was weak at times, as was their shooting average. This, however, is naturally expected to improve as the year moves on. By the time the Mason-Dixon teams start invading the gymnasium, Coach Reitz's team will be more than ready to cope with the best of them.

Benefit Game

The Loyola College Varsity basketball team will play Scranton University's Varsity in a benefit game on January 2, 1955 at 2:30 p.m. in the Alumna Gymnasium here at Evergreen. The proceeds of the game will go to the Jesuit mission in Jamshedpur, India.

Tickets are on sale now in the Athletic office or at St. Ignatius Rectory at 700 N. Calvert St. and will be until the game in the Gym. The price for all tickets is $1.00 and seats are reserved.

Streaks - Seniors To Clash Today For Mural Title

Today at noon the undefeated Bozel Bombshells and once-beaten defending-champion Streaks will play-off their 12-12 tie from last Thursday in the intramural football final.

Since the league is operated on the double-elimination basis, the teams will clash Monday for the title if the Streaks win today.

Last Thursday Mick Voelkel threw the tying T.D. pass to Moe Bozel on the game's last play.

Streaks Lose In Semi-Finals

Moe Bozel took the opening kickoff for a touchdown in sparking the Bombshells into the intramural finals and handing the Streaks their first loss, 14-6, November 29.

Bozel became ill following the full-field punt and was replaced by Tom Reynolds, who played the entire game with torn ligaments.

A safety by Bill Phillips against Frank Dickson and a long run with an interception by Voelkel clinched the game.

Olympians Lose By Two

A wind-blown pass from center that hit behind the goal line eliminated the Olympians, 8-6, November 29, as the Regimentals advanced to the semi-finals.

Bill Weglein, of the winners, snared a Fred Cox pass at mid-field and, aided by a key block from John Vaeth, rared down the sidelines to equalize an opening-minute F.D. pass from Dick Blackshire to Tom McLoughlin.

Paul Feild, in his first game since the close of the cross-country campaign, scored touchdowns on a five-yard end sweep and a pass from John Snedecor, as the Streaks eliminated the Choppers, 13-0, November 23.

Four Streak passes were intercepted in the first period, two each by Bob Wintz and Fava.

Lateral Formation

Towards the end of the half, the Streaks began to click with a lateral formation. Unable to keep Wintz and Joe Murray from charging the backfield, the juniors countered by having quarterback Snedecor lateral to Frank Dickson or Feild on the flank, who then directed the play.

The Choppers had set the single game scoring mark by thrashing the freshman Pups, in October, 30-0.

The Bombshells advanced to the semi-finals by handing the Regimentals their first loss, 24-0, November 23.

Moe Bozel ran an interception over for one score and passed to Mike Voelkel for another. The latter tossed to Ken Gay on a sleeper play and jump-passed to Bill Phillips for the other tallies.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

Running With The Hounds

by Jim Cole, Sports Editor

With the failure of the people of Baltimore to support their professional basketball team, and the consequent scattering of Selvy, Simmons and company to the four winds, Loyola College, with some dispute, ranks as the top basketball team in this city. Therefore, in accordance with their high standing, Loyola's athletic director, Lefty Reitz, has arranged a twenty-three game basketball schedule featuring some of the best basketball teams in the East in order to provide fit opposition for the Hounds. University of Maryland please take note.

Already four games deep into their 1954 season without much luck as yet, the Hounds return to Evergreen next Saturday after an extended road trip. The team takes on Fairleigh-Dickinson College at that time. This school, despite its anonymity in these parts, has an excellent ball club. Last year they downed a goal Seton Hall team and were very highly regarded in their home state of New Jersey. Entering this game, the Hounds will probably fall into the category of underdogs. However, the Green and Grey will be in there fighting, and with your support, might very well pull an upset.

Mason-Dixon Conference

The following Wednesday, Loyola will begin its quest of the Mason-Dixon crown which an upstart Mt. St. Mary's team captured last year. That night, the Hounds will travel across town and engage Baltimore U. in the Rogers Ave. gym. B.U. will have the same team as last year, with the exception of John Salvatore, star guard, who has left school. This should be a good game. Next Saturday, Loyola will take on Catholic U. over in Washington. All the students that possibly can should attend these games. For the latter game, our nation's capital holds many possibilities for the average Loyola man and, coupled with the prospect of seeing the Hounds win, a most interesting evening should be had by all who make the trip.

Intramural All-Star Team

In view of the recent controversy that has been taking place over the Intramural All-Star Team, the Greyhound has made a survey of the different team captains in order to satisfy our readers' demands.

This team was not picked by any member of the Greyhound staff or anybody connected with it. The Consensus Team:

First Team	Second Team
Jim Young, Streaks	Tom Martel, Hounds
Joe Murray, Choppers	Tom Reynolds, Bombshells
Paul Buckmaster, Streaks	Vince Kelly, Streaks
Fred Buchness, Bombshells	Tony Sario, Regimentals
Bill Weglein, Regimentals	Bob Wintz, Choppers
Dick Blackshire, Olympians	Jim Vaeth, S. Gents
